

Workshop

Transnational Criminal Law in Transatlantic Perspective (1870-1945): Towards a dialogue between the Global North and the Global South

May 23-24, 2019

Max Planck Institute for European Legal History, Frankfurt am Main

Thursday, May 23

09:00 Welcome Address

Thomas Duve (MPI for European Legal History, Frankfurt)

09:15 Introductory Notes

Karl Härter – Valeria Vegh Weis (MPI for European Legal History, Frankfurt)

Panel 1 Transnational Crime, Criminals and Threats

Chair: Karl Härter

10:00 Italian Immigration, Crime, and Police Actions in Uruguay: The Volpi-Patrone Case (1882)

Nicolás Duffau (Universidad de la República, Montevideo)

11:00 Coffee Break

11:30 Borderland Caudillos and Transnational Order: Controlling and Policing the Territory of Rio Grande and the Construction of the Nation State (1870-1900)

Pamela A. Cacciavillani and Luis Alberto García (Universidad de Monterrey)

13:00 Lunchtime Snack

14:00 Latin America, Europe, and the Challenge of Anarchist Violence, 1890-1920s: Legal, Police, and Societal Responses in Comparative Analysis

Richard Bach Jensen (Louisiana Scholars' College at Northwestern State University, Natchitoches)

15:00 Transnational Counterfeiters and Police Detectives in the Early 20th Century South American Atlantic

Diego A. Galeano (Pontifícia Universidade Católica do Rio de Janeiro)

16:00 Coffee Break

Panel 2 Actors and Practices of Transnational Criminal Law

Chair: Valeria Vegh Weis

16:30 A Closer Look on International Criminal Justice Congresses: Cultural Translation in Criminology and the Impact on Latin-American Criminal Codes (1870-1945)

Elizabeth Gómez Alcorta (Universidad de Buenos Aires)

18:00 Dinner at the Restaurant 'Romanella '

19:00 Round Table Discussion: Transnational Criminal Law in Transatlantic Perspective (1870-1945) – Perspectives for Research and Cooperation

20:15 End of the First Day of the Workshop

Friday, May 24

Panel 2 Actors and Practices of Transnational Criminal Law (continued)

09:00 The League of Nations, Latin America and Transnational Criminal Law in Transatlantic Perspective (1870-1945)

Paul Knepper (Central Washington University, Ellensburg)

10:00 Slavery and Transnational Criminal Law: the Extradition Treaties of Brazil and the Repression of the Atlantic Slave Trade

Diego Nunes (Universidade Federal de Santa Catarina, Florianópolis)

11:00 'Short Presentation': African Colonial Perspectives on Transnational Criminal Law

Raquel R. Sirotti (MPI for European Legal History, Frankfurt)

11:30 Coffee Break

Panel 3 Transnational Discourses and Criminology

Chair: Raquel R. Sirotti

12:00 'Short Presentation': When Did the Accusatorial System Land in Argentina? Transatlantic Influences and the Three Most Important Codification Moments in Criminal Procedure between 1870 and 1945

Máximo Langer (University of California, Los Angeles)

12:30 The Rise of Preventive Justice. The Transnational Debate on Measures of Security

Michele Pifferi (Università degli Studi di Ferrara)

13:30 Lunchtime Snack

Final Discussion

14:30 Transnational Criminal Law in Transatlantic Perspective (1870-1945). Towards a dialogue between the Global North and the Global South: Concepts, Approaches and Examples
Valeria Vegh Weis and Karl Härter (MPI for European Legal History, Frankfurt)

15:30 Coffee Break

15:45 Discussion: Conclusions and Perspectives of the Project 'Transnational Criminal Law in Transatlantic Perspective (1870-1945)'

17:00 End of the Workshop