

Research Colloquium on Global Legal History

Wintersemester 2019/2020

Date	Topic
10.10.2019 16:30-18:00	Justine Collins Max Planck Institute for European Legal History The origins and legacies of the British West Indian Slave Legislation: When periphery becomes the centre
12.11.2019 14:30-16:00	Raquel Sirotti Max Planck Institute for European Legal History “A famous crime, perhaps the most notorious in the whole country”: The assassination attempt against Brazilian President Prudente de Morais in 1897
10.12.2019 14:30-16:00	Yu Wang Max Planck Institute for European Legal History Seeing Others and Seeing Me: Comparative interpretations of Law throughout legal changes in early 20th century China
16.01.2020 16:30-18:00	Gilberto Guerra Max Planck Institute for European Legal History Not Quite Brothers in Arms: Indigenous legal status during the Dutch expansion to the State of Maranhão, 1642
13.02.2020 16:30-18:00	Maysa Espíndola Max Planck Institute for European Legal History Between Roças and Palhotas : Colonial exploitation in Portuguese Africa, 1850-1930
02.03.2020 16:30-18:00	Douglas Corrêa Santos Universidade Federal Fluminense Collaboration, Control and Conflict in the Administration of Criminal Justice in Comparative Perspective: Buenos Aires and Minas Gerais during the Late Colonial Period

Contact: glono@rg.mpg.de