

GLOBAL PERSPECTIVES ON LEGAL HISTORY

A Max Planck Institute for Legal History and Legal Theory
Open Access Publication Series

Our modern legal system is based on the principle of equality. But is equality perhaps not also a concept that inadequately describes the complexity of normative orders? Highly differentiated societies with a multitude of collective identities and functional rationalities are in a permanent state of tension with this legal postulate. The contributions to this volume examine how this tension has developed in Europe and Latin America over the last 200 years.
